Dennis Prager

9:00 - 11:45 a.m.

Happiness Is A Serious Problem

Dennis Prager has been described as an amazingly gifted man whose mission in life has been crystalized: to get people obsessed with what is right and wrong. His book, Think a Second Time, is one of those rare books that can change an intelligent mind. As he outlines the ten major obstacles to happiness, you will leave rethinking for the first time— about some of your most basic assumptions toward happiness. This is most definitely not some “feel good” talk, but rather the inquiry into the goodness and challenge of the human spirit.

Will Bowen

12:30 - 1:30 p.m.

A Complaint Free World

In your hands, you hold the secret to transforming your life. Big words? Yes, but this is a plan that has already proven itself with millions of people around the world.

Will Bowen developed the life-changing A Complaint Free World plan based on the simple idea that good things will happen for you in abundance if you can just leave your grumbling behind. Learn what constitutes a complaint, why we complain, what benefits we think we receive from complaining, how complaining is destructive to our lives, and how we can get others around us to stop complaining.

If you stay with it, you will find that not only will you not complain, but others around you will cease to do so as well.

Erik Petersen

1:30 - 3:30 p.m.

Seven Revolutions

The SEVEN REVOLUTIONS initiative dares to do what fewer and fewer organizations are able to do - to consider the long-term implications of global trends facing the world. The project maps seven key trends that will effect change out to the year 2025, providing leaders with a comprehensive outline of the major challenges that lie ahead. The seven “revolutionary” areas of change are;

- 👉 Population
- 👉 Resource management
- 👉 Technology innovation and diffusion
- 👉 Information and knowledge creation and dissemination
- 👉 Economic integration
- 👉 Conflict
- 👉 Governance

Each of these revolutions embodies both promise and peril and it is up to every one of us to determine the trajectory these revolutionary forces will follow.
